

What is the Data Snapshot?

Welcome to the first Data Snapshot - Arts Education Access in CPS: How school size, type, and student demographics impact 2019-20 Creative Schools Certification - an expanded analysis by Ingenuity's data team of information collected from the Creative Schools Survey and other sources.

Data is a critical tool for advancing arts education equity in Chicago Public Schools (CPS). These series of Data Snapshots can be used to help influence decision-making, fuel arts-supportive policies, and identify opportunities for improved resource distribution.

Arts Education Access in CPS: How school size, type, and student demographics impact 2019-20 Creative Schools Certification, examines the intersections between race and ethnicity, school enrollment, school type, and a school's Creative Schools Certification score (CSC).

Arts Education Access in CPS:

How school size, type, and student demographics impact 2019-20 Creative Schools Certification

Ingenuity Data Snapshot
February 2022

Some notable takeaways:

- ▶ Student Demographics: Black students are less likely to attend a school that provides an arts program that is Excelling or Strong than students in any other racial/ethnic demographic category.
- ▶ School Type: Students in Non-District Managed schools are less likely than students in any District-Managed schools to experience arts programs that perform well on Quality measures. Students in Non-District Managed schools are less likely than students in Higher Enrollment District-Managed schools to attend a school that is rated Excelling or Strong.
- ▶ Enrollment Size: Students in Lower Enrollment District-Managed Schools are less likely to have access to high-quality arts programs than students who attend other Higher Enrollment District-Managed Schools.

Want to learn more? Read our full report here.

Data is a critical tool...to help influence decision-making, fuel arts-supportive policies, and identify opportunities for improved resource distribution.

About Us

Ingenuity's mission is to ensure that every student, in every grade, in every school, has access to the arts as part of a well-rounded education. Learn more at ingenuity-inc.org.