Features of a Successful Partnership

Harvard Project Zero study on over 100 partnerships that had long-term sustainability found 5 Key Commonalities:

- Surviving Partnerships Place the Needs of Students and Schools at the Center of Their Mission.
- Deep Personal commitment to the Education Power of Arts Experiences Fuel Surviving Partnerships
- Surviving Partnership Embrace the Need to Listen, to Learn and to Change.
- Surviving Partnerships Require a Broad Base of Ownership and Investment.
- In surviving Partnerships, Multiple Elements of the Work Receive Regular Attention.

FEATURES OF SUCCESSFUL PARTNERSHIPS

Features of a successful partnership for organizations large and small:

- Clarify and refine your organizations philosophy
- Mutual respect
- Open communication with more effort up front for smooth collaboration
- Clarification of assumptions and expectations
- Identify your common purpose
- Excel at problem solving and conflict resolution
- Set the highest standards and truly believe it's worth the effort
- Learn from past experiences
- Modify your behavior accordingly
- Model reflective practice
- Commit to cracking the "code"

ARTS ASSIST GUIDE: A RESOURCE FOR ARTS PARTNERS

ARTS PARTNERSHIP PROCESS

BUILDING EFFECTIVE, IMPACTFUL, AND SUSTAINABLE ARTS PARTNERSHIPS

PLANNING

The school and the arts partner work to plan the vision and outline of the program. Goal setting, scheduling, role assignments, pedagogical approach, assessment strategies, communications calendar, and program logistics should be defined during this phase of the process.

IMPLEMENTATION

During the implementation phase, the school and the arts partner work together to support high quality classroom interactions. Although all of the program details have been outlined, there should be some openness to change based on alignment to students' interests and needs.

REFLECTING & REVISING

The school and the arts partner work together to review and reflect upon student learning, program outcomes and goals, and logistical needs and supports. This step encourages deep reflection so that the revisions and lessons learned can be applied in the future.

ingenuity

LEVELS OF IMPACT

THE NEED FOR LEVELS OF IMPACT

According to the 2015-2016 State of the Arts Progress Report 23% of community partnerships included field trips, marking that program type as the most common, with residencies and professional development the lowest, at only 12%.

This finding reveals there is an evident gap between the different levels of impact that schools are using to introduce the arts into the curriculum. What can happen to student learning when each level of impact is integrated into a student's learning experience?

THE LEVELS

HIGH LEVEL IMPACT: These partnerships create enduring relationships between the school, the students, and the arts partner, sustaining a meaningful understanding of arts and curriculum over an extended period of time.

- Residencies: Artistic programs within a given school in which a teaching artist(s) implements an arts-learning curriculum over the course of several weeks or months, typically in conjunction with CPS classroom instructors.
- Professional Development: Training for instructors and/or administrators that enable staff to learn more about developing arts-based lessons and best practices; often customized to serve specific classroom interests and goals.

MID-LEVEL IMPACT: While mid-level impact does not have the same collaboration with arts partnerships over an extended period of time, it can enrich students' experiences in the arts through important resources and opportunities.

Resources: External providers supply physical resources to supplement a school's arts education programming (e.g. arts supplies or instruments). This can benefit the classroom's ability to have the tools teachers need to incorporate the arts into the classroom.

Master Class/Workshop: Professional or working arts partner comes to the classroom to teach on a specific arts discipline.

ingenuity

 Demonstrates the range of impact community arts partnerships can have upon a school's arts program.

 Represents the amount of time spent, relationships built, and meaning-making created through different arts partnerships for students in CPS, highest being the most impact, and lowest being the least impact.

LOW-LEVEL IMPACT: Low-level impact has the least amount of collaboration with arts partnerships over an extended period of time and does not integrate both content and arts within the classroom.

- Field Trip: A classroom visit to a cultural institution, museum, or external community arts partner's facilities for an arts related educational experience or performance allows students to see the arts in the community, but not necessarily transfer the experience back into the classroom.
- Out-of-School Time Program: Any programming in which CPS youth participate outside of the traditional school day. This gives students the ability to see the arts work outside of the classroom, but is not necessarily in conjunction with classroom goals. While this may be considered high level, especially if it is a five-day a week program, this has a low-level impact because not every student has access to these opportunities.
- In-School Performances: External arts organizations come into a school to provide a single day performance, exhibit, lecture, demonstration, or event to a specific grade, class, or entire student body. While this can give students context within the arts it is removed from the classroom integration of the arts.

USING THE LEVELS OF IMPACT

Each stakeholder can use their sphere of influence in order to contribute to effective partnerships through the different Levels of Impact.

PRINCIPALS CAN USE THE LEVELS OF IMPACT TO:

- Know: the range of impact arts partnerships has on their arts programs and/or the needs and desires of the principal's school.
- Understand: the impact student learning can be maximized when the benefits of all levels from the Levels of Impact are incorporated across all content levels.
- Do: implement strategic opportunities for teachers to use these different partnerships as a way for better teaching practices and student learning.

TEACHERS CAN USE THE LEVELS OF IMPACT TO:

- Know: about the time spent, relationships built, and meaning-making created for the needs and desires of the teacher's classroom.
- Understand: the impact of having arts partnerships on all levels can maximize student understanding of content and curricular standards.
- Do: Implement ways in which student learning can be enhanced through arts partnerships on different impact levels.

ARTS PARTNERS CAN USE THE LEVELS OF IMPACT TO:

- Know: how and where their programs fit in the levels of impact.
- Understand: how arts partners can use the Levels of impact to strategically think about maximizing student learning.
- Do: implement strategic programs that address the levels of impact and are responsive to the needs and desires of the schools and the students.

CONCLUSION

WHAT HAPPENS WHEN STUDENTS HAVE A MORE INCLUSIVE EXPERIENCE OF THE ARTS FROM All impact levels?

- Students will understand the arts and learning as a dialogue between each other, creativity as an integral part across content areas in the classroom, and experience in and outside of the classroom.
- Students will gain insight into the role the arts plays in curriculum alongside teachers and art partners, school and community.

RESEARCH SHOWS:

 Students receiving a quality arts education have higher attendance; higher test scores and increased participation in school.⁴

- Students will apply their creativity to learning in new ways when the arts are explored as an important in and out of school learning experience to use higher-level thinking.
- Students will have opportunities for growth through scaffolded learning on different impact levels, alignment with standards that integrates action, skill, knowledge, metacognition, and setting of transfer goals for student understanding.
- Students with different needs such as English language learners, students from low socio-economic backgrounds, and students with special needs show improvement in academic success when participating in the arts.^a

FOCUS AREA 4: CONTINUOUS QUALITY IMPROVEMENT Component 4B: Strive for Sustainability

COMPONENT GOAL: Arts learning is expanded within the organization, school, and community to institutionalize what has been learned and build sustainability for future practice.

Improving Practice in this Component

The following questions, organized by element, are designed to help organizations and program managers improve and sharpen current practices in this element as well as engage in professional conversations with colleagues and organizational decision-makers.

ELEMENTS

GUIDING QUESTIONS

Expand Arts
Learning Among the Funding
Community

- Are our funding needs realistic and sustainable?
- Is evaluation for the organization or for funders? Both?
- Who in the funding community will most passionately support our programs?
- Who in the funding community has a requirement(s) we simply cannot meet?
- How do we solicit feedback from our funders? What do we do with that feedback once we receive it?
- What is our method for gathering and tracking information about funders?
- Who is responsible for building these relationships?

The following questions, organized by element, are designed to help organizations and program managers improve and sharpen current practices in this element as well as engage in professional conversations with colleagues and organizational decision-makers.

ELEMENTS

GUIDING QUESTIONS

Expand Arts
Learning in the School

- How long would we like to be working with a school?
- What are strategies for scaling up or down according to our capacity?
- How do we include student, teacher, and administrator voice at all levels of the program?
- To what extent does a school's ability to pay impact your relationship?

Improving Practice in this Component

The following questions, organized by element, are designed to help organizations and program managers improve and sharpen current practices in this element as well as engage in professional conversations with colleagues and organizational decision-makers.

ELEMENTS

GUIDING QUESTIONS

Expand Arts
Learning in the Community

- How do we nurture and sustain longer term relationships in communities?
- What role do we play in building or supporting community?
- How do we manage transition while sustaining relationships?

Demonstrating Growth in this Component

SUPPORTING DOCUMENTS: Organizations have multiple opportunities to gather tools as evidence of practice in this component. The supporting documents below can serve as artifacts and evidence of practice, and can be shared during professional conversations, uploaded to artlook,[®] or gathered during an observation. The following provides examples, rather than an exhaustive listing, of how organizations can showcase their practice.

- Evaluation results framed for a funding audience
- Logic models
- artlook[®] Map profile reports
- Accurate and realistic program budgets
- Communication logs
- Community-based or school plans that include the work of the organization in forwarding larger goals
- Quality Toolkit Exercises: Reflecting on Your Research, Progress on Your Problem of Practice, Bridging the Capacity Gap, Developing Understanding: A Process for Reflection and Analysis, Communicating to Stakeholders

Implications for Field Trips

When conducting field trips, there may be opportunities for expanded learning in the school or community. Field trip facilitators make connections as needed so as not to lose opportunities for expanded arts learning or to leverage field trip enthusiasm for a broader relationship.

SFILLING IN THE CIRCLES

- What should they know about your mission....vision
- What do you want your legacy to be
- How have you prepared the school, the teacher, and the students to maximize the experience
- How does your work contribute to sustainability in a school
- How does assessment impact your program model
- How visible are your efforts in the school, the community, and with your peers
- What are your models of best practice...IL Learning Standards for the Arts
